

Idle Thoughts

Green Glow Night

THERE'S a green glow at my bedside, even in the smallest hours,
Digitally monitoring my world.

It waits to see a daybreak bringing sunshine, snow or showers,
And everything that dawn will have unfurled.

It's the clerk-clock in the bedroom and it's minuting the night –
The hiatus wherein sleep is meant to lurk.

It's a little green-eyed monster and it's in my line of sight
When pillowed head seeks solace after work.
